Robert W. Chambers' Discovery
Broadway, a den of home-seekers! Robert W. Chambers says so. In a remarkable interview, the famous novelist defends the character of a New York play girl. He says in part: "In every age there have always been the young 'slap-girls.' We notice her more today, because she is better dressed, more sure of herself, more convinced that her way is right and that play is essential. But I find as I study these young people that not all is desire for gayety, for personal beauty and comfort and brightness—there is old dominating impulse to mate. Indeed often it is the desire for this very thing that leads these young people to Broadway; but what they want is a home, the safe retreat, the man that belongs to them, the child that needs them." There is a profound truth in Mr. Chambers' gallant defense—the fundamental instinct to love and to mate. Mr. Chambers has always thoroughly exemplified this in his fiction, and never so well perhaps as in his latest novel "The Dark Star," appearing in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Harris' Creek

Another sad and terrible scene was witnessed here on Dec. 23rd. The writer was not present but from what I can learn all was peace and quietness. A large audience had assembled to celebrate the birth of our Savior, but of course the devil could stand it no longer. He must take a hand—and he did his work well. We have now in our cemetery a newly made grave and when the light of that dear one went out it cast a gloom over the entire community. The newly made grave is not all we have to remind us of this awful tragedy but a widow and five children. Mr. Benedict—"Willie" as we all called him—little thought when leaving home on that fatal evening that he had bid farewell, as no thought of trouble had entered his mind. His death came as the judgment will—as a thief in the night—God grant that we will never experience another Christmas as sad as the last one. The writer wishes to extend her heartfelt sympathy to the loved ones in their bereavement also to the mother of the boys who are in this trouble for my heart aches for her. May she be comforted by the Comforter on whom we can depend, our Saviour.

Do It Now

Stanford People Should Not Wait Until It Is Too Late

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due largely to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms often give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer may slip gradually into some serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if your kidneys show signs of being disordered, help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they act where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Mrs. S. E. Owsley, E. Main St., Stanford, says: "I had severe pains in my back. My limbs ached and were swollen badly. My kidneys throbbed and ached and were swollen and sore. My head ached and I had dizzy spells. My hips were so sore and painful that it caused me a great deal of trouble to work. My kidney caused me a great deal of annoyance also. I used all sorts of remedies with little benefit. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills put me in good shape and the aches and pains left me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Owsley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 6-1
